118 Visitors From 10 Colleges Arrive To Attend Sports Day

118 representatives from Randolph Macon, Hollins, Bridgewater, William and Mary, Radford College of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Farmville, Richmond Professional Institute, Mary Baldwin, Sweet Briar and Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia arrived on campus today to join Madison in a Sports Day. The total number participating in the two day meeting, including the members of the Madison Physical Education Staff, the Athletic Council, and physical education majors, will be 181.

The State-wide meeting of woman athletes and directors is the beginning of an effort to organize a Virginia Athletic Federation of College Women, in combination with a basketball sports day and a swimming meet.

Jane McMurran is chairman of the committee, which worked closely with Dr. Elizabeth G. Rodgers, head of the Department of Physical Education, in designing and making the program. Other members of the committee were Jane Grant and Evelyn Dickson.

Dr. Caroline Sinclair, chairman of the Department of Physical Education at the College of William and Mary, is credited with conceiving the idea that college women in Virginia should organize.

The guests were greeted by the housing and hostess committee headed by Frances Hundley, Jean Shelley and Dorothy Dickenson with Miss Janette Shaffer, as advisor.

At dinner tonight, the representatives were welcomed by President Samuel P. Duke, of Madison College. Joyce Hammond, president of the Madison College Athletic Association, presided, and each delegate expressed briefly the feeling of her school regarding the organization of a state A. F. C. W.

The planning and arrangements for the dinner were carried out by a committee headed by Cora Jean White, Rose Pace, Barbara Pamplin and Nancy Rogers with Mrs. Althea Johnston, as adviser.

Square dancing will be held in Reed Gymnasium tonight. It will be led by Jo Hodgson, Miss Luellen Bowles and members from square dance classes. Tomorrow morning basketball teams, selected from each school's intramural program, will play. Lou Goettling is chairman of the committee, composed of Doris Wright, A. C. Bowman and Annalee Messick who with Miss Celeste Ulrich as adviser, planned and will assist in the basketball events.

During the two-day sessions those desiring to obtain or renew basketball official rating will have an opportunity to do so under the official rating program to be held with Miss Margaret McVey of Richmond, national judge, in charge.

At 1:15 p.m. there will be a business meeting of official delegates with Joyce Hammond, presiding, and Jane Grant, representing Madison College.

JO HAMMOND
President of Athletic Association

ness meeting of official delegates with Joyce Hammond, presiding, and Jane Grant, representing Madison College.

Swimming Meet Tomorrow

At 2 p.m. tomorrow, the swimming meet will begin. Mickey Parrotta and her committee, composed of Frances Garfinkle, and Henrietta Lanier, with Miss Dorothy Savage as adviser, is in charge of the swimming program, which will bring together competitors selected from each college's intramural swimming team. Mrs. Howard Bernstein, rated swimming official of the National Section of Women's Athletics, will officiate at the swimming meet.

At 3:30 p.m. the Sports Day will be concluded with a tea given by the college social committee under the direction of Ann Myers, chairman.

It is believed that this is the first time an effort has been made to organize college women's athletic groups on a State-wide basis in Virginia with main purpose of furthering athletic interests and activities for women according to the highest and soundest standards.

Dean, Houchell Attend Meeting

Dr. W. J. Gifford and Dr. Paul Houchell recently returned from the meetings of superintendents and other school administrators at Atlantic City, New Jersey, during the week of February 20-26. About 12,000 persons attended the conference. The delegates came from every part of the nation and represented every type of school interest from kindergarten through university. The meetings ranged from small groups of a few hundred each to large sessions for the entire convention held in the great assembly hall at Atlantic City.

Dr. Houchell reports that even a small digest of the discussions and actions of all these groups as published by one of the exhibitors covers forty-four pages of newspaper-sized type.

Among the large issues discussed during the week were the President's Commission on Higher Education, and the Yearbook entitled the "Role of Education in Democracy," international relations, particularly, the problem with Russia.

Dr. Gifford and Dr. Houchell concerned themselves mainly with the sessions on philosophy, college teaching

Students Vote For Bunny Girl

The presentation of Madison's "Bunny Girl" tomorrow night during the Singspiration program will bring the World Student Service Fund drive to a close on campus. Candidates were selected by popular vote of the students.

Mrs. Phyllis Farley, Southeastern Regional Secretary of the WSSF opened the drive on campus on Tuesday when she spoke to the members of the YWCA and Wesley Foundation cabinets. Mrs. Farley, who attended the University of Edinburgh, formerly served as a delegate to Poland.

Representatives solicited the dormitories and sorority houses for contributions and a thermometer posted in Harrison Hall registered the steady rise in donations made.

Chairman of the drive is Martha Thomas and all campus organizations were represented on the committee. The drive is sponsored annually by the Y.W.C.A. and is a relief organization of the students and professors of American schools and colleges for the assistance of students and professors of universities in war-devastated countries.

Club Hears Report Atlantic City Trip, Teaching Salaries

Rose Marie Pace and Jennie Snowden, Kappa Delta Pi representatives to the recent convocation in Atlantic City, N. J. reported on their trip at the meeting of the organization last night.

Other reports made at the meeting brought out the teaching conditions in Jefferson County, West Virginia, Rockingham County, Virginia, and Ohio.

Teachers with a degree receive $1890 annually in Jefferson County, West Virginia. An increase of $7.50 per month is paid with each month's salary until $2767.50 is reached with 13 years of experience. Five days sick leave are granted annually.

In Rockingham County, Virginia, the minimum starting salary for persons holding a collegiate professional certificate is $1600. An increase of $50 per year is paid until $2000 is reached. Five days sick leave with pay is given.

In the state of Ohio, salaries start at about $1800 in rural schools, and $2400 in city schools. Only experienced teachers are employed in the city schools, however.

of education, secondary school principals and various sectional meetings of the administrators, where special topics of interest to them were discussed.

Among the outstanding speakers presented at the conference were General Omar Bradley, Representative Walter Judd of Minnesota, author Pearl Buck and columnist Marquis Childs.

Congratulations

Congratulations to the six newly elected heads of our major campus organizations. They certainly deserve our praise and best wishes and we wish them the best of luck in their work.

Even more than our best wishes however, our new officers deserve our support and help in their work. It will not be easy for them to step into the role of major leaders on campus but we may be able to make it just a little easier in some ways. By helping to carry out their plans, by making new suggestions, by cooperating in every way possible, and by giving helpful advice when needed, we may encourage and support them so that they might go far toward reaching their highest goals.

Where Is Your Spirit?

This past week, one of the classes on campus held a very important meeting in preparation for a big day. About one fifth of the members of the class were present. This is just one of a number of cases where school spirit is lacking on Madison campus.

This lack of school spirit is ever present at class meetings, club meetings, and athletic meets where many of the seats that should be filled remain vacant.

It is bad to see vacant seats, but it is worse to know that there is no school spirit moving us to be proud of our clubs, and most of all—our school.

If we hold membership in a club, we are obliged to support it in every way possible. When we cease to do so, we are "dead wood," and the organization would be better off without us.

Last Tuesday, election day of our major campus officers, should have been one of the biggest days in our school year. School spirit should have been rampant; yet nothing at all—only the booth in a corner of the P. O. lobby would indicate anything out of the ordinary.

The time will come when we'll all be looking back to our college days. What will we see? J. C.

Give And Keep Giving

"Everytime I turn around I'm told to give to this, give to that, give, give, give!", a girl was heard to complain after the World Student Service Fund drive was announced.

All right, so we are asked to contribute to worthwhile organizations. What of it? We can afford it. Isn't it more worthwhile to give fifty cents to the W.S.S.F. than spend it on candy and cookies? Some of us say, "Huh! we don't have to be concerned about the welfare of other countries. Why can't they struggle back on their feet alone?"

But what would we say if we were in the position that they are today? How many of us at Madison would even attempt a college education if we didn't have paper, pencils, textbooks, dishes, food, etc. Students who would try to get an education in spite of handicaps like that deserve it.

So far the W.S.S.F. drive has received good returns. The drive ends tomorrow, so miss that movie and sundae, in order that another youth can learn. R.G.

Big Game Ahead!

"Here's the report on the boy's basketball game . . . more information on sports day . . . go out and get the dope on the swimming meet. . ."

With sports news floating all around in our heads, it is natural that the BREEZE staff should be sports-minded. In fact, we're in such an athletic mood that we've challenged the Schoolma'am to a basketball game on Monday night.

Tho' many of the players on both the Balmy Breezes and the Schoolma'am Dummies teams can't tell a basketball from a volley ball, they promise everyone a great show. What they lack in speed and skill will be made up in enthusiasm.

If you like your basketball games full of fun, jokes, and surprises, come on out and support your favorite team. R. G.

SHOWGOER

By Jean Shallcross

"Body and Soul" with John Garfield and Lilli Palmer is coming to the Virginia Theatre Sunday through Tuesday. Hazel Brooks is the new star introduced in this picture. John Garfield plays Charley Davis, middleweight champion of the world whose trainer dies. He is in love with Peg Born played by Lilli Palmer, but meets Alice, (Hazel Brooks.) Charley wins a championship fight, losing a fortune by doing so, and returns to his mother and Peg with a clear conscience.

Wednesday and Thursday "Intermezzo" returns with Ingrid Bergman and Lesley Howard.

Friday the Virginia shows "I Became a Criminal," and Saturday Sabu plays in "Elephant Boy."

The State Theater is showing James Stewart in "Call Northside 777" Saturday through Wednesday. This is the story of a newspaper's fight for justice based on actual happenings. Jimmy Stewart plays McNeal, a newspaper reporter who frees an innocent man from prison. Co-starring with Jimmy are Helen Walker and Richard Conte. "Out of the Blue" will be at the State Thursday and Friday starring George Brent, Virginia Mayo, and Carole Landis. A picture made solely for laughs, it's one you can't afford to miss.

Johnny Mack Brown in "Prairie Express" will come to the State Saturday.

We Thank You

We wish to express our appreciation to the State Steering Committee, which is composed of Dr. Caroline Sinclair of William and Mary College, Miss Margaret Reynolds of Sweet Briar, Miss Frances Mays of the State Department of Education, and Dr. Elizabeth Rodgers of Madison College, for making possible the first Sports Day in the history of athletic activities in the state of Virginia. For many years now there has been a need for the different women's colleges to meet for such purposes as competing in games, expressing views on athletic activities and just getting to know each other. Now the opportunity has arrived, but it would not have been made possible without the help of the representatives from Randolph Macon, Hollins, Bridgewater, William and Mary, Roanoke College, Radford, Farmville, Richmond Professional Institute, Mary Baldwin and Sweet Briar.

Much credit also is to be given to the president, the members, and the sponsors of the Athletic Association on our campus, not only for the splendid work they have done during the past year, but for their tireless efforts and cooperation in undertaking to make the Sports Day a success in every respect. We can be proud that our school has taken such a lead.

Congratulations would not be complete if we did not recognize the cooperation of the girls on our campus who are participating in the various activities of the day. Our physical education majors and minors have shown outstanding ability and enthusiasm through this entire year.

May we congratulate every individual who takes part in this event in any way and may we also extend a warm and hearty welcome to the many visitors who will represent their colleges on Madison campus. Thank you for your participation and your cooperation! M. H.

AMONG NEW BOOKS

By Margaret Clark

FRIENDS AND LOVERS by Helen MacInnes

This very lightly plotted love story is delicately set in Scotland, picturesque London and Oxford. The author has been criticized because of the lightness in which the story is written, but those readers who like love stories wrapped up in sugar will enjoy this to the last page.

It is the story of a young Oxford student and his love for a pretty young girl, of a more conventional, higher society. How their love affair runs along and the final outcome is the sweet, innocent story we have waited so long to read.

While this story is regarded as one of Miss MacInnes's lesser attempts, it does have the youthful love, that can happen only once in the lives of two people, portrayed simply and calmly. It's a good one to take on that hike you've been promising yourself.

CONCORD-AMERICAN TOWN by Townsend Scudder

If you're the type who hates the history in the text book, than this is just the book you're looking for.

The story reads easily. There are no footnotes or specific, memorized facts, just the plain simple truth told in a form that will take you from tears to grins in a course of a few chapters. It is a well-written novel of the history of a small American town and how it grew. It takes you back to the days of hoop skirts and parasols, an age of elegance and dignity, and then it cleverly brings you up to the present day.

Something To Chat About —

By Maggie Kenny

The most delightful flop of the season took place this week, when Edith Cabanis was directing the orchestra in Instrumental class—she took a flip backwards off the podium. Edith survived, minus bruises, but the chair she was sitting in got its back broken.

Among the culture-loving audience at the National Symphonic Orchestra concert last week was the bright young miss who whispered, "Don't you just love Rimsy and Korsakoff!"

Someone else talked at length on "The Marriage of Figaro."

Nancy Powell, transfer from Mary Washington, was still new to Madison campus life when she saw in Lincoln House a suitcase labeled "Leslie Hall." Nancy thought a minute and finally remarked, "I haven't seen that dormitory yet."

CABE'S COMMENTS

The hastily composed election bill which Governor Tuck proposed (and other Byrd stool pigeons presented) over a week ago must have been composed by a party who had not thought at all about it. He presupposed that Truman would be the Democratic candidate for President. That is possible; but not too probably in view of his definite unpopularity.

However, should Truman be the Democratic candidate Byrd had his far-fetched scheme all ready to operate. First, he should fix it so that Virginia's electoral votes (the overwhelming sum of 11) should be cast for a Southern Democratic candidate — he was sure that all the other Southern Democrats would follow suit in favor of the third candidate. This would tie up the national election so that no candidate could receive the required 266 votes—and the election would fall in the laps of the House of Representatives. That body is, by the way, strongly Republican. How our illustrious Democrat, Senator Byrd, hoped to possibly win the votes there is a good question! He may have a powerful machine and a great deal of influence, but not that much.

Now, back to the bill itself. It was first to eliminate all names of the presidential and vice-presidential candidates — this has been amended—names will now appear. The first draft (whizzed secretly through our House Committee with not a vestige of a public hearing) also was to absolutely eliminate Truman's and Wallace's chances. Now they do have a long, long chance. But without a doubt the Virginia convention will be instructed not to vote for Truman—so we might as well say that he hasn't a chance in Virginia or in a number of other Southern states. This will serve only to split the Democratic party—not hurt the Republicans at all—and the final result will be a Republican President. So it is hoped that the ridiculous, much-amended bill will be defeated overwhelmingly and then forgotten.

If You Ask THEM . . .

By Pat Ingram

When this harried Breeze reporter summoned our newest major officers via telephone for their "Famous First Words" on learning of their elections, I got—on the average—about the same amount of ecstatic sighs. But, here, you can see for yourself:

Ida Hart Chappell:

My first impulse was to call home, but the feeling I had was something I can't explain.

Betty Lou Henshaw: We—ll, I was naturally very excited, and I'm sorry it couldn't have been possible for both of us to have won.

Mary Edwards: I was very thrilled and happy. I'll try to do my very best. Of course I was excited. The first thing I did was to phone my parents.

Lou Goetting: Gee, oh gosh! When I heard I had won, I felt too wonderful to think of anything! I was speechless!

Rebecca Rogers: I was T. N. (truly nervous). Seriously, I was very happy and only hope I can live up to Mike's work.

Betty Broome:

I was real thrilled and went to tell Jo Johnson the first thing. Spent my last cent calling home and down to N. C. State College.

Delegates To IRC Conference Report On Main Activities

Two delegates from the Madison International Relations Club, June Lyon and June Morrison, attended the I. R. C. Regional Conference held February 27-28 at the University of North Carolina. The Regional President, John Bristow, greeted the 150 delegates at the opening session. The film, Seeds of Destiny was shown at this session as an introduction to the conference theme, "Peace or Pieces."

Friday afternoon the delegates attended one of the following six seminars held: "Near Eastern Nationalism," "European Recovery Plan," "The United Nations," "Declining Imperialism in the Far East," "Occupation and the Peace Treaties," and "The Political Conditions of Europe."

The main address of the conference was given by Dr. Paul F. Douglass, President of American University. He spoke on "America's role in Human Survival."

Saturday morning, the final sessions of the seminar were attended. At the last session of the conference the new officers were elected.

A full report of the conference will be given by the delegates at the March 11 meeting of the I. R. C. All members are urged to attend this meeting as the officers for next year will be elected.

Sophs Sponsor Miss V. Kirkus

Stressing her belief that we should tie together our thinking and our reading, Miss Virginia Kirkus, sophomore class day speaker, spoke on the topic "Books and Your Thinking" in Wednesday assembly.

The noted critic gave the group many useful suggestions on current best-sellers. Among them, she discussed Sinclair Lewis's "Kingsblood Royal." This book is the emotional story of a white man who discovered from his family history that he was one-sixteenth negro and felt it his duty to make the fact known to his friends and take his place in the negro race. The book shows his struggle with both whites and blacks and his denunciation by both groups. Miss Kirkus called the book a "phoney" and believed it was of no great value.

Miss Kirkus suggested Gentlemen's Agreement as a better interpretation of the same sort of thing. This book is the story of a reporter who tried to crowd the whole emotional life-time of a Jew into six weeks. The book could, she suggested, change the feelings of those with no antagonistic feelings toward the semitic peoples.

In closing, Miss Kirkus touched upon the most rousing of all subjects, Russia, and showed how an author changed as the country changed—just as we must do.

VDA To Convene On This Campus To Discuss Plans

The Executive Committee of the Virginia Dietetics Association, called by Miss Mabel Gladin, president of the Virginia Association, will be held at Madison College tomorrow. Those present will make plans for the state meeting to be held at Old Point Comfort in April.

The Home Management girls will serve a buffet luncheon for the group.

Those attending are: Miss Evelyn Wolfe, president-elect, Rockingham Memorial Hospital; Miss Margaret Fitzhugh, Director of School Cafeterias, Richmond; Miss Mary Jane Allen, Secretary, Medical College of Va.; Miss Mary Burnett, C & O Hospital, Clifton Forge; Mrs. Jean C. Clevelan, Red Cross Nutritionist, Lynchburg; Members of the House of Delegates; Miss Ellasue Carr, Roanoke; Dr. Alice I. Edwards, Mary Washington College and Miss Marguerite L. Pettee, Medical College of Virginia; Miss Julia Van Horn, University of Va. Hospital; Miss Catherine Turner, Mary Washington College, Mrs. Bernice R. Varner, Chairman Professional Education Section, Madison College, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Woodard, Richmond; Mrs. Helen R. Robertson, Richmond, Miss Kathryn Heitshu, Medical College of Virginia, Richmond.

This'n That

By Frances Connock

After Fancy Dress at W. and L., Midwinter at V. P. I. and U. Va. the three preceding week-ends, our social butterflies spent this past one recuperating here on campus, it seems.

If you see Junior Hall literally blowing its top, it's because Martha Lewis Lambert, Jr. weighed in at 7 pounds, February 18. She is Mrs. Stevens' first granddaughter.

Christmas eve was a big date in the life of Phyllis Wheeler. It was then she received her diamond from Willard Moore of her hometown Elkton, Maryland.

A sparkling gem from Paul Marano, Jr., of R. P. I., can be seen on the third finger, left hand of Donna Hair. Both Donna and Paul are from Richmond, Virginia.

Jacqueline Carr, Franklin, Virginia, became engaged to Alvin Hall of Aboliskie, North Carolina, recently. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Mildred Haley and Nancy Rainey entertained in honor of Jackie Carter, Madison alumna, with a cabin party in Danville last week-end.

A rousing time was had in Bedford when Jo Garber, Carey Lee Luck, Peggy Reeder, Polly Love, and Shirley Sims visited Nancy Ballard.

The Breeze staff seems to be becoming quite socially minded these days. Besides the great Breeze-Schoolma'am basketball game, the staff is now planning a bridge party for the night of March 22.

KDP Delegates Relate Experience

By Frances Wilkins

"Oh! I had so much fun. It was so interesting and exciting! We have loads of new ideas for K. D. P." These remarks came from Rose Marie Pace and Jennie Snowden who represented Alpha Chi Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi at the annual K. D. P. convention held February 24-February 26 in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Numerous discussions and forums were held during the convention. Dr. George S. Counts who spoke on the Soviet Foreign Policy stated that understanding the Russian situation is quite difficult since the "Iron Curtain" prevents us from learning the ideas and objectives of Russia. The UNESCO was presented by Howard E. Wilson who stressed the significance of social and cultural development of the world.

Dr. Walter J. Gifford, who was attending the meetings of the American Association of School Administrators, also held in Atlantic City, took the girls' display of school materials which ranged from buses to minute pencils and erasers.

Jennie attended the concert given by Fred Waring and his orchestra, while both delegates heard a concert presented by 1200 school children, conducted by Peter W. Dykema, Professor Emeritus of Columbia University.

Basketball Squad Plays Final Game With MWC Team

The Madison "Dukes" will meet the basketball squad from Mary Washington College Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. in Reed Gym for their return tilt. This will be the last game for Madison and should prove to be one of the best games of the season.

The "Dukes" defeated the Mary Washington College team Wednesday night at M.W.C. 32-28. The boys from Madison were not passed after they took the lead early in the first period although there were many times when one point made the difference.

Warren Denton with 11 points was high scorer, Bill Horn with 9 points and Buddy Showalter with 8 were the other high point men.

Bluefield College won the tilt when they met the "Dukes" here Tuesday night in Reed Gym 54-38. The "Dukes" kept the lead until the fourth quarter when Bluefield managed to break through the defense of Madison. Waldo Miller lead the scoring with 14 points and Warren Denton with 11 points.

The Madison "Dukes" lost 43-26 to the B team from the University of Virginia Saturday afternoon.

Duchesses Top Roanoke, 38-15

The Madison College Duchesses brought the 1948 extramural basketball season to a brilliant close Saturday, February 28, when they defeated the Roanoke College Maroons, 38-15.

The first quarter was slow and Madison trailed, going into the second quarter 7-3. It was then the Duchesses turned on all their speed and prowess to snow under Roanoke.

Ciekot made 13 points while feeding the ball nicely to Grant who was high scorer with 18 points. Early made a long shot, Pickral contributed a basket and Shelley played a fast breaking game.

Epperson at guard, made many interceptions and controlled the rebounds along with Messick and Johnson, who played a fast game. Woodyard and Dickerson relieved the starting guards.

The Madison extramural basketball squad compiled a five victory, one loss record for the 1948 season. The squad defeated two teams from Westhampton College, two sextets from Sweet Briar College and won a single game from Roanoke. Their only loss was a one point 25-24 decision to Farmville.

The Spotlight . . . By BERYL SNELLINGS

This week-end here at school, big things will be happening along the lines of sports. A state-wide meeting of women athletes and directors will emerge here in an effort to organize a Virginia Athletic Federation of College Women.

Our very able physical education department has spearheaded the arrangements for this program, with students and physical education leaders from Hollins College, Randolph-Macon Women's College, Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia, Bridgewater College, The College of William and Mary, Roanoke College, Radford College of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Farmville State Teacher's College, Richmond Professional Institute of the College of William and Mary, Mary Baldwin College, Sweet Briar College, saying they will attend the conference.

A Virginia federation of women athletes in college would become affiliated with the Athletic Federation of College Women, a national student organization of women's athletic associations, whose main purpose is to further athletic interests and activities for women according to the highest and soundest standards. No state federation of this nature is now in existence and it is believed this will be the first time an effort has been made to organize college women's athletic groups on a state-wide basis in Virginia.

Numerous newspapers throughout the state have given the conference much publicity. The Richmond Times Dispatch in its last Sunday edition carried a three column writeup in addition to an airview picture of the complete campus. Many visitors who are not directly connected with sports are expected to attend, perhaps in interest, perhaps for inspiration, perhaps in support of all that such an association could foster.

Bids are $2.50 stag and $3.00 drag. Thursday, and Friday of next week They will be on sale Wednesday, in Sprinkle House.
